GENERAL INVESTMENT FUND RISK DISCLOSURE

Systematic is an unregistered private investment partnership that is NOT subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds, including mutual fund requirements to provide certain periodic and standardized pricing and valuation information to investors. There are substantial risks in investing in Systematic. Persons interested in investing in Systematic should carefully note the following:

- Speculative Investment. High Degree of Risk. Systematic represents a speculative investment and involves a high degree of risk. An investor could lose all or a substantial portion of his/her investment. Investors must have the financial ability, sophistication/experience and willingness to bear the risks of an investment in Systematic. An investment in Systematic should be discretionary capital set aside strictly for speculative purposes.
- Only Qualified Persons May Invest in Systematic. An investment in Systematic is not suitable or desirable for all investors. Only persons who qualify as "accredited investors" and "qualified purchasers" may invest in Systematic.
- No Review or Approval by Regulators. Neither Systematic's offering documents, nor the offering of its limited partnership interests, have been reviewed or approved by federal or state regulators.
- Portfolio Funds May Employ Investment Techniques Which Increase Systematic's Risk of Loss. Portfolio funds may employ leverage (including high levels of leverage) and other investment techniques that may increase the volatility of Systematic's performance and increase its risk of loss.
- An Investment in Systematic Will Be Illiquid. No Secondary Market for Systematic's Limited Partnership Interests Exists. An investment in Systematic will be illiquid and there are significant restrictions on transferring interests in Systematic. There is no secondary market for the limited partnership interests of Systematic and none will be expected to develop.
- Limited Operating History. Systematic commenced operations in April 2022 and, as a result, has a limited operating history.
- General Partner Has Sole Discretion Regarding Allocation of Systematic's Assets. The general partner ("GP") of Systematic, has sole discretion regarding the allocation of Systematic's assets to portfolio funds. Possible Concentration. Systematic may invest in a limited number of funds, which could result in a limited degree of diversification and higher risk.
- Reliance on Expertise of Fund Managers. In light of its multi-manager investment strategy, Systematic will effectively rely on the trading expertise and experience of third-party investment managers (i.e., the investment managers of funds to which Systematic allocates its assets). The identity of such investment managers may not be disclosed to investors.
- Complex Tax Structure. Systematic involves a complex tax structure, which should be reviewed carefully.
- Possible Delays in Reporting of Tax Information. Systematic's investment strategy may cause delays in important tax information being sent to investors.
- Advisory Fees May Be Substantial. Multiple Levels of Advisory Compensation. The advisory fees of Systematic and its portfolio funds, – which may, in the aggregate, be substantial regardless of whether Systematic has a positive return – will offset Systematic's profits. Investors will effectively pay two levels of advisory compensation: (i) the advisory compensation payable to GP; and (ii) the advisory compensation payable to managers of Systematic's portfolio funds.
- No Requirement to Provide Pricing or Valuation Information. Neither Systematic nor any portfolio fund is statutorily required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors.
- GP's Management of Systematic Involves a Number of Potential Conflicts of Interest. There are a number of conflicts of interest or potential conflicts of interest in connection with GP's management of Systematic.
- This General Investment Fund Risk Disclosure is Not Complete. The above summary is not a complete list of the risks and other important disclosures involved in investing in Systematic and is subject to the more complete disclosures contained in Systematic's Private Offering Memorandum (and the exhibits thereto), which must be reviewed carefully.
