GENERAL INVESTMENT FUND RISK DISCLOSURE

TIS is an unregistered private investment partnership that is NOT subject to the same regulatory requirements as mutual funds, including mutual fund requirements to provide certain periodic and standardized pricing and valuation information to investors. There are substantial risks in investing in TIS. Persons interested in investing in TIS should carefully note the following:

- Speculative Investment, High Degree of Risk. TIS represents a speculative investment and involves a high degree of risk. An investor could lose all or a substantial portion of his/her investment. Investors must have the financial ability, sophistication/experience and willingness to bear the risks of an investment in TIS. An investment in TIS should be discretionary capital set aside strictly for speculative purposes.
- Only Qualified Persons May Invest in TIS. An investment in TIS is not suitable or desirable for all investors. Only persons who qualify as “accredited investors” and “qualified purchasers” may invest in TIS.
- No Review or Approval by Regulators. Neither TIS' offering documents, nor the offering of its limited partnership interests, have been reviewed or approved by federal or state regulators.
- Portfolio Funds May Employ Investment Techniques Which Increase TIS' Risk of Loss. Portfolio funds may employ leverage (including high levels of leverage) and other investment techniques that may increase the volatility of TIS' performance and increase its risk of loss.
- An Investment in TIS Will Be Illiquid. No Secondary Market for TIS' Limited Partnership Interests Exists. An investment in TIS will be illiquid and there are significant restrictions on transferring interests in TIS. There is no secondary market for the limited partnership interests of TIS and none will be expected to develop.
- Limited Operating History. TIS commenced operations in April 2005 and, as a result, has a limited operating history.
- General Partner Has Sole Discretion Regarding Allocation of TIS' Assets. TIA, the general partner of TIS, has sole discretion regarding the allocation of TIS' assets to portfolio funds. Possible Concentration. TIS may invest in a limited number of funds, which could result in a limited degree of diversification and higher risk.
- Reliance on Expertise of Fund Managers. In light of its multi-manager investment strategy, TIS will effectively rely on the trading expertise and experience of third-party investment managers (i.e., the investment managers of funds to which TIS allocates its assets). The identity of such investment managers may not be disclosed to investors.
- Complex Tax Structure. TIS involves a complex tax structure, which should be reviewed carefully.
- Possible Delays in Reporting of Tax Information. TIS' investment strategy may cause delays in important tax information being sent to investors.
- Advisory Fees May Be Substantial. Multiple Levels of Advisory Compensation. The advisory fees of TIS and its portfolio funds, – which may, in the aggregate, be substantial regardless of whether TIS has a positive return – will offset TIS' profits. Investors will effectively pay two levels of advisory compensation: (i) the advisory compensation payable to TIA; and (ii) the advisory compensation payable to managers of TIS' portfolio funds.
- No Requirement to Provide Pricing or Valuation Information. Neither TIS nor any portfolio fund is statutorily required to provide periodic pricing or valuation information to investors.
- TIA's Management of TIS Involves a Number of Potential Conflicts of Interest. There are a number of conflicts of interest or potential conflicts of interest in connection with TIA's management of TIS.
- This General Investment Fund Risk Disclosure is Not Complete. The above summary is not a complete list of the risks and other important disclosures involved in investing in TIS and is subject to the more complete disclosures contained in TIS' Private Offering Memorandum (and the exhibits thereto), which must be reviewed carefully.
